GENDORF Document Solutions

Our experts operate the intelligent image management software GENDORF Pics on your behalf. GENDORF Pics makes time-consuming searching and archiving a thing of the past for you.

Today's use of digital cameras has resulted in an increasingly larger number of pictures taken during a project. Simply storing these on file servers is of not much help for maintaining control. Our intuitively operated module is used to easily assign keywords – also called tags – to photos, which are then quickly locatable for all project participants. In addition to indexing with tags, GENDORF Pics can also reference images on planning documentation or other pictures. Pictures can then be exported or image-based reports can be created to then pass the image-based documentation on, therefore making these available to all project participants.

Our services:

- Provision the app-based image management software "GENDORF Pics"
- Install, maintain, and support the solution – in-house and as a hosted service
